

INTERN POSITION AT THE ALASKA DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES, DIVISION OF GEOLOGIC AND GEOPHYSICAL SURVEY
(DGGS), FAIRBANKS

Opening Date:	March 15, 2011	Closing Date:	Until filled
Contact Name:	Gabriel Wolken
Email:	Gabriel.wolken@alaska.gov
Telephone:	(907) 451-5018
Company Name:	State of Alaska, Department of Natural Resources
Student Job Title:	Student Intern II or III (1 Position)
Wage:	$12.50 – 20.50 (depending on class status and experience)
Major(s) Requested:	Geomatics, Geology, Environmental Science, or Natural Resource Management related
Class Status:	Undergraduate or Graduate
Special Consideration:

Description of Duties:

The intern will participate in multidisciplinary studies involving environmental change, geologic mapping and hazards evaluation in Alaska. The tasks required of the intern will include remote sensing image processing, GIS development, digital map creation, data, entry, helping with fieldwork preparation and logistics planning, and assisting with fieldwork in remote settings. Intern candidates must have experience using ArcGIS and have some background in remote sensing.

How To Apply:

To qualify, you must be an undergraduate or graduate enrolled as a full time college student.

Use the link below or <http://dnr.alaska.gov/commis/pic/intern.htm> to obtain the DNR Student Intern Application with list of additional materials to submit.

Fill out the application, complete the application packet and mail or electronically send to the Anchorage DNR address stated at the bottom, addressed to the DNR Intern Coordinator. Letters of Recommendation do not need to be formal, and they may be sent by email.